A NAVAL GUNNER SAVES LEGATIONS

GUNNER MITCHELL.

THE material of which a man is made is brought out in time of battle as it is at no other time, and many and varied are the heroic deeds that are performed. Many a hero goes to his grave and the world knows little of the deed which may have cost him his life. And so it is with Naval Gunner J. Mitchell, a United States marine on board the transport Solace, now in this port.

If Mitchell had his way about it the heroic deeds which he has performed would never have been made public, but it is in actions such as his, where they are not committed in order that they may be paraded before the public, that the greatest credit lies.

Mitchell is called the "Hero of Peking" by his comrades, and right well is he named, for it is to Mitchell alone that the legations owe their lives. Seven hundred souls were penned within the enclosure, and affairs had grown so desperate that on the last day of the terrible siege husbands had agreed to save their last bullet for their wives rather than have them fall into the hands of the fiends who were assailing the gates; fathers were prepared to take the lives of their daughters, and sweethearts intended to die with the men they loved, while all around death in its most hideous form stared them in the face.

But they did not know that within their midst was a man who by his ingenuity and courage would save them from their impending fate before the morning dawned. Mitchell had discovered an old cannon in a junk shop which had for years been used as a hitching-post, and while strong men were giving up in despair, he racked his brains and hit upon a means by which the day was turned.

Before he discovered the old cannon there was no weapon larger than a rifle within the besieged compound. Hastily fitting it up, Mitchell placed it opposite the Krupp gun of the Boxers, and when ready for the first shot no one could be found to fire it. Mitchell it was who performed the deed, and it was his first shot that knocked the Chinese Krupp gun from its place, battered to pieces and unfit for further use. Mitchell continued to fire the gun until the Boxers were inspired with a wholesome fear of this death-dealing machine.

When the last attack on the legation was made, Mitchell stood at his post waiting. Through a hole in the wall he saw the enemy stealthily gathering and mounting a new gun. With the instinct of the true soldier he waited, and not until the embankment was black with forms did he turn loose the power which meant salvation for them all. Two shells were fired, and then Mitchell went to an opening in the wall to behold the damage he had done.

As his eyes swept the battle-field he witnessed a terrible scene of destruction. Torn and mutilated forms of the Boxers were to be seen everywhere, but as he stood viewing the scene a storm of bullets struck the wall about him, and when he turned once more to seek the shelter of the barricade a Boxer bullet rendered his right arm useless. A moment more and one more hero would have met his death, and this story would have remained untold.

All honor to the "Hero of Peking."

CINCINNATI MAYOR ISSUES A PERMIT

CINCINNATI, Feb. 2.—Although the Mayor of Cincinnati has issued a permit for a ten-round bout between Childs and Martin and a twenty-round bout between Jeffries and Ruhl in this city on February 15, it is evident now that the events cannot be pulled off without coming in conflict with the whole power of the state, as well as with the opposing elements in this city.

Mayor Fleischmann has persistently refused permits for local fights or boxing contests of any kind, but in sympathy with the old Saengerfest Association, he promised a permit for their benefit on February 15 and kept his word, notwithstanding the storm of local opposition. It is not believed that Mayor Fleischmann will go any further than he has gone in issuing the permit. He will not use the police of the city to protect the contests in the event of the opposition of Governor Nash, and there is no longer any doubt about the opposition of the Governor. Tonight the following was received:

"COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 2.—To the Saengerfest Association, Cincinnati:
You are unfortunate in your preparations if the affair is to be simply a boxing contest. The signs all point underlyingly to a prize fight. I will be governed by this evidence and the affair will not be permitted. If you persist you will find yourselves in conflict with all the powers of the state.

"GEORGE K. NASH, Governor."

SAID TO HAVE FIRED A SHIP.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 31.—The crew of the American ship Sea Witch have been arrested on suspicion of having set fire to the vessel in Manila bay on the 3rd inst. In order to save the ship she was scuttled by a party from the United States cruiser Brooklyn, but she is so seriously damaged that she can only be of use as a hulk.

VENERABLE PARLIAMENTARI- ANS.

Among the 670 members of the new House of Commons two are above 80 years of age. The oldest of all is Spencer Charrington, whose years are 82; the next, Sir F. Mappin, 81. Then comes Sir C. M. Palmer and S. Young, both of whom are 78 years old. Including the last two, there are nineteen members who have reached threescore and ten or more, but not fourscore.
